

were speaking alone, together

[11:34, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: It's simply chaos. That is nature of things.

[11:40, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: What do you guys think about laugh tracks in sitcoms? I think it's a cop out for bad comedy

[11:42, 2/21/2017] Katya: cacophonous

[11:43, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: fake. irritating. unnecessary.

[11:43, 2/21/2017] Katya: Can a dialogue really be self-sustaining?

[11:46, 2/21/2017] Paola: Are there non self-sustaining dialogues? What sustains those other types of dialogues?

[11:52, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: I think talking about talking is boring enough.

[12:54, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: Will you please let the Sioux girl speak

[12:56, 2/21/2017] Isabella P: If she dances for me, then yes

[12:56, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: Take my hand then.....

[12:57, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: Or not.

[13:07, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: who's gonna make the coffee?

[13:08, 2/21/2017] Katya: all the porcelain cups are cracked

[13:08, 2/21/2017] Judy Karkour: AND we're out of coffee

[13:08, 2/21/2017] Paola: I have instant coffee 🙄

[13:12, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: I will take mine with no sugar please.

[13:28, 2/21/2017] Katya: I saw a brown dog with white paws burying its bone in the damp earth

[13:31, 2/21/2017] Paola: I saw that dog, he has an account on pounced.org. He was totally into the fact that I was 2/3 Andalusian unicorn and 1/3 dog 🦄🐶

[13:56, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: Request: can we open a window? The frustration in here needs to be aired out like laundry

[14:02, 2/21/2017] Paola: Speaking of clothes...Most clothes come with uv brighteners that birds like pigeons can see but humans can't

[14:08, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: There are colors from the electromagnetic spectrum that plants see. Not in the same ways humans do.

[14:12, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: I bought myself a bouquet of flowers but now they are wilting. I thought about putting sugar in the water but I don't have any at home. Anyone got a tablespoon of sugar to lend?

[14:14, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: Why don't you press the precious flowers in between two halves of a book?

[14:24, 2/21/2017] Isabella P: I would rather just buy a flower growing in a pot with soil, than deal in this macabre subject. Why do we have to cut the flower in the first place?

[14:37, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: Do you think that once all the flowers die and the conversation ends we will still be friends? Are we friends now?

[14:40, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: Virtual communication like this can't classify a friendship.

[15:49, 2/21/2017] Paola: Until the server dies

[16:10, 2/21/2017] Judy Karkour: I think we should all just go back to pigeon mail. In this day and age full of tech and shit, we've forgotten how useful pigeons are. And now we only see them as flying rodents. Why?

[16:00, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: Archaeologists of the future will have a certain insight however.

[17:42, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: Loneliness is the silent epidemic of our era. Online relationships and virtual stimulation suffice nowadays. I want a hug? I can find an app and get one. Is loneliness a symptom or an end result?

[21:08, 2/21/2017] Judy Karkour: Could be both. I mean it's a symptom until you're not lonely anymore.

[21:09, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: Is there even an end?

[21:11, 2/21/2017] Katya: #myonlinetherapistsays

[21:12, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: I told her about you. She's says we're too codependent

[21:17, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: I'm sorry you took it that way

[21:18, 2/21/2017] Larissa Fantini: I'm sorry you feel this way I wish you good luck. Hope the strawberries are sweet when picked

[21:19, 2/21/2017] Katya: Wild strawberries can never be in season, their juices are sour.

[21:21, 2/21/2017] Judy Karkour: But Katya, that's subjective because you don't like strawberries.. but yes wild strawberries can't 'be in season' because they're wild. They can grow whenever they want. Wherever they want. However they want.

[21:22, 2/21/2017] Ruhi Amin: An organised chaos and decomposition... How enticing

[21:23, 2/21/2017] Isabella P: Wow my mind is blossoming with intellectual information 🌸

[21:24, 2/21/2017] Christine Forni: I see